“In Becoming An Effective Bible Teacher, Dr. Johnson not only captures the required mechanics necessary for any individual called to the teaching ministry to prepare and deliver a biblically sound lesson, but he also captures the most important intangible required to make a lesson effective. And that intangible is the transformed life of the teacher first, and the impact their life will have on the transformation of the student. This is the goal of Bible study.”

As a student of the Christian Education Certification program, and a former Sunday School teacher who taught the multi-step process developed by Dr. Johnson, I can attest to the effectiveness and transformative impact that the teaching strategy had, not only on my teaching and personal study of the Bible, but also on the students that I taught.”*
